...from the Town Clerk. The Town Council is pleased to confirm that the Wilson Terrace toilet block has now been re-opened. New alcohol gel dispensers have been installed - please do remember to use these on entering and leaving the building and to observe social distancing. The block will remain open until the end of October when it will close as usual for the Winter months.

An outdoor gel sanitiser dispenser has arrived and is in the process of being installed by the outdoor gym. Hopefully this will be in place early next week.

...from What3Words. This week we're encouraging everyone in the UK to get the app and help emergency services #KnowExactlyWhere. What3Words pinpoints your location to a 1m. square anywhere in the world - whether a desert in the middle of Mongolia or the back door of a house in Scottleton Street - enabling the rescue services, ambulance, police, Freeglers, delivery drivers etc. to know exactly where you are and save valuable time. Please spread the word by sharing this appeal. Share this message to social media, community groups, friends and family by copying the text and explainer film link below. ...from Helen about Presteigne Plastics Project: This will be a relaunch of Plastic Free Presteigne, building on their work. The idea is to work along with other official UK plastic campaign groups to spread the message about the urgency of the problem and what we can all do to help. If you would be interested to participate in anyway or have any idea or question please email to receive further information. We will be issuing a monthly newsletter with further information and all emails will be answered (data protection guidelines will of course be followed. ## SPAM ALERT

ed. from bitter personal experience, beware of scam websites selling 'bargains' - the old adage applies - if it looks too good to be true it probably is!! I thought I was reasonably savvy but was conned into buying a handheld mini-circular saw from ciltce.com that I'd seen on repeated Facebook video ads a few weeks ago - purporting to be from a US seller, selling for less than £30 compared with similar items at £55+. (I'm seeing maybe identical Facebook video ads today from Voungh and Sombey - same people ?!). I'd been thinking about buying one for a while - big mistake - all seemed OK, confirming email, link to USPS Tracking but...it never arrived (just a small envelope from a Mr Gu in China enclosing a single saw blade) and of course, no response to follow-up emails. I should have checked the website and if I had, I would have seen this was a newly established website (or a fake piggyback on another sellers website) and several other people were reporting the same problem. So please learn from my stupidity. Apart from following guidance from Citizens Advice and others on how to spot a scam website, if you are not buying through a known marketplace that offers buyer protection

(Amazon, eBay etc) or from a known supplier or manufacturer, there are a number of tools for checking whether a website is rated trustworthy or is the subject of scam reports - e.g. www.scamadvisor.com and urlvoid.com. Unfortunately you can't absolutely rely on the little green padlock symbol - that can be faked! - and a website can operate for a few weeks before scam reports build up causing the site to be scam-flagged. So, if it looks like an absolute too-good-to-miss bargain....don't be tempted until you've done your checks.

...from Grace's Beauty ref Facial Treatments. We are back in the salon tomorrow taking bookings. We are so excited to see everyone. However, although there is no outright ban, the Welsh Government Guidelines strongly recommend avoiding treatments performed on the face. We will currently be pausing bookings for this category but this will be reviewed on a regular basis. We want to keep all our clients as safe as we possibly can. When guidelines are clearer we will hopefully open up our treatment list fully to enable facial treatments to go ahead. We hope you understand our decision for the time being. This is a new way of working and there is lots to take in for everybody. Please be patient. We can't wait to welcome everyone back

...from Dale at The Royal Oak. As of Monday we are allowed to open up for indoor service. Not much is changing in the way we currently operate as we are still keeping it continental with table service being the new normal. It's definitely keeping us all fit. Our table capacity has been slightly reduced inside to enable social distancing and the one way system around the pub will still be in place. Booking is recommended to ensure a table is kept but walk ins are still accepted if we're not at capacity. Thank you all for your continued support.

...from Clare. Particularly for friends who would normally coming to Presteigne for the festival over August Bank Holiday Weekend - the good news is that the Radnorshire Arms will look a WHOLE lot better when you return next year than it did in 2019 - they are gearing up to run an outdoor bar very soon and there's a huge amount of decorating going on inside as well. Let's hope it will be fully open for business in 2021. (ed. I spoke to the owners last week and they are targeting a limited opening in mid-August)

OTHER INFORMATION

...reported in the MWJ about Powys CC. Powys Council has declared a climate emergency after a vote by councillors. In January 2019, Machynlleth became the first town council in Wales to declare a climate emergency, and was followed by a number of other authorities (ed. including Presteigne Town Council) – and now Powys has added its name to the list. The LibDem Councillor who proposed the motion wanted to see Powys become a net zero carbon authority by 2030. The vote means the council has now acknowledged a need to act on the causes and impact of climate change.

...from Recycle Now. Ever wondered what to do with your unopened, unused or out of date medicines? Take a look at this link for some tips and guidance on how best to dispose of your unwanted medicines. <https://bit.ly/38Xa85T> #recycle

...from the Welsh Government. Thanks to all of your efforts, rates of coronavirus in Wales remain low. This means we can relax restrictions further and open more businesses. On Monday, indoor areas of pubs, bars, cafes and restaurants can reopen. Also, from Monday 3 August, you can meet up to 30 people outdoors. Coronavirus has forced us all to make difficult sacrifices, including limiting seeing our family and friends. Please reunite with loved ones safely - keep 2 metres apart and follow guidance to keep you, your family and your friends safe.

...from Ken Rodmell. Several people have asked me what the very bright 'star' is, low down near the southern horizon around nightfall - well, it's not actually a star but planet Jupiter, the king of planets. Any half-decent binoculars will normally bring out its four main moons, while a telescope at 40x magnification or above will show the fuzzy, rust-red/brown northern and southern equatorial belts on the planet. If you look very carefully, you might notice that Jupiter is not circular - due to its rapid spin rate, it is centrifugally 'bloated' at its equator - about 10% over its polar diameter. While you're looking, don't forget to look a few degrees left of Jupiter to see planet Saturn and its infamous rings. Saturn is both physically smaller than Jupiter as well as being almost twice Jupiter's distance so it will appear much less bright but still impressive once you have it in your sights.

...from Powys Recycles and the Welsh Youth Parliament. Whether we mean to litter or not, the rubbish we throw away can pollute where we live and could end up in the sea, and from there who knows?
